Description
The Master of Arts in Economics degree provides excellent preparation for a career as an analyst in government or the private sector, and for doctoral study.

The Economics major comprises of two concentrations:

• One distinct advantage of the Economic Analysis concentration is its focus on the development of strong analytical and quantitative skills. Students are well-trained in the application of economic theory and methods of statistical analysis.

• The Financial Economics concentration is primarily designed for students who wish to pursue careers in the financial services industry, including commercial banking, investment banking, insurance, real estate and financial advising.

Fully Offered At:
• Kent Campus

Accreditation
AACSB, International - The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business

Graduation Requirements
• Minimum of 30 credit hours of coursework, or a minimum of 24 credit hours of coursework and a thesis.
• Students entering the program will be expected to have completed undergraduate courses in intermediate microeconomic and macroeconomic theory, differential calculus and statistics. Any deficiencies must be made up before the start of the program. These background courses do not count toward the 30 credit hours required for the degree.
• Both the Financial Economics and Economic Analysis tracks are built upon a set of core courses in economic theory and econometrics. The student then takes elective courses in areas such as international economics, economic development, monetary economics, labor economics, public sector economics or several courses in the Department of Finance, depending on the track chosen.
• A student may also select, with departmental approval, a limited number of courses outside the Department of Economics.
