Description
The Ph.D. degree in Music Theory–Composition prepares composers, research scholars and college/university teachers in the areas of music theory and composition. This degree program is based on the premise that original composition of high quality requires a strong background in theory, and that significant scholarship in theory requires experience in original composition.

Fully Offered At:
• Kent Campus

Accreditation
National Association of Schools of Music

Admission Requirements
• Master’s degree from an accredited college or university
• Minimum 3.000 undergraduate GPA on a 4.000 point scale
• Official transcript(s)
• Resume
• Goal Statement
• Three letters of recommendation
• Substantial term paper on a theoretical topic or a master’s thesis in music theory written in English
• Minimum three scores of original compositions demonstrating a variety of genres (chamber, orchestral, piano, choral, etc.)

Minimum Total Credit Hours: 60

¹ Each doctoral candidate, upon admission to candidacy, must register for MUS 88199 for a total of 30 credit hours. It is expected that a doctoral candidate will continuously register for Dissertation I, and thereafter MUS 88299, each semester, including summer, until all requirements for the degree have been met. All students writing a dissertation must pass a dissertation defense. Dissertation defense may be attempted two times.

² Electives must have been approved in student’s prospectus.

Candidacy Requirement
This examination will normally be taken when the student has substantially completed his/her coursework and has received the consent of the advisory committee to attempt the examination. The written portion of the examination will cover the major and supportive areas of study and will be followed by a comprehensive oral examination. Students who fail the candidacy examination two times will be dismissed from the doctoral program.

Residency Requirement
Students in the Ph.D. must complete a minimum of 15 credit hours of study within one calendar year in residence.
