Course Descriptions

Course descriptions include a synopsis of the content to be covered in the course, credit hours, schedule type (e.g., lecture, lab) and grade rule (e.g., letter, satisfactory/unsatisfactory). If applicable, course descriptions will include prerequisites for registration, attributes to fulfill a university requirement, course equivalencies and repeatable for credit. Please note that there may be differences in the same course from one academic year to the next.

Some courses require that a fee be paid in addition to instructional and general fees. A list of courses with these special fees can be found in the University Fee Register on the Financial, Billing and Enrollment Center website.
